Something to Consider

In the buildings of to-day, whether great or small, the saving of space has become a scientific study.

The result of this study, at first brought out the Wall Bed, which, by folding into the wall removes the bed from the floor space of the room, thus making a living room by day and a bed room at night.

Then, to make a complete living apartment in the least possible space, Perfect Concealed Rolling Bed was brought out. This makes it possible to have a complete bed, side board or book case, etc., also linen cabinet and garment closets, and dressing room all in the space occupied by the bed.

By using this arrangement the living room in no way resembles a bed room; the dresser being placed in the dressing room.

Study the accompanying plans, which will explain fully.

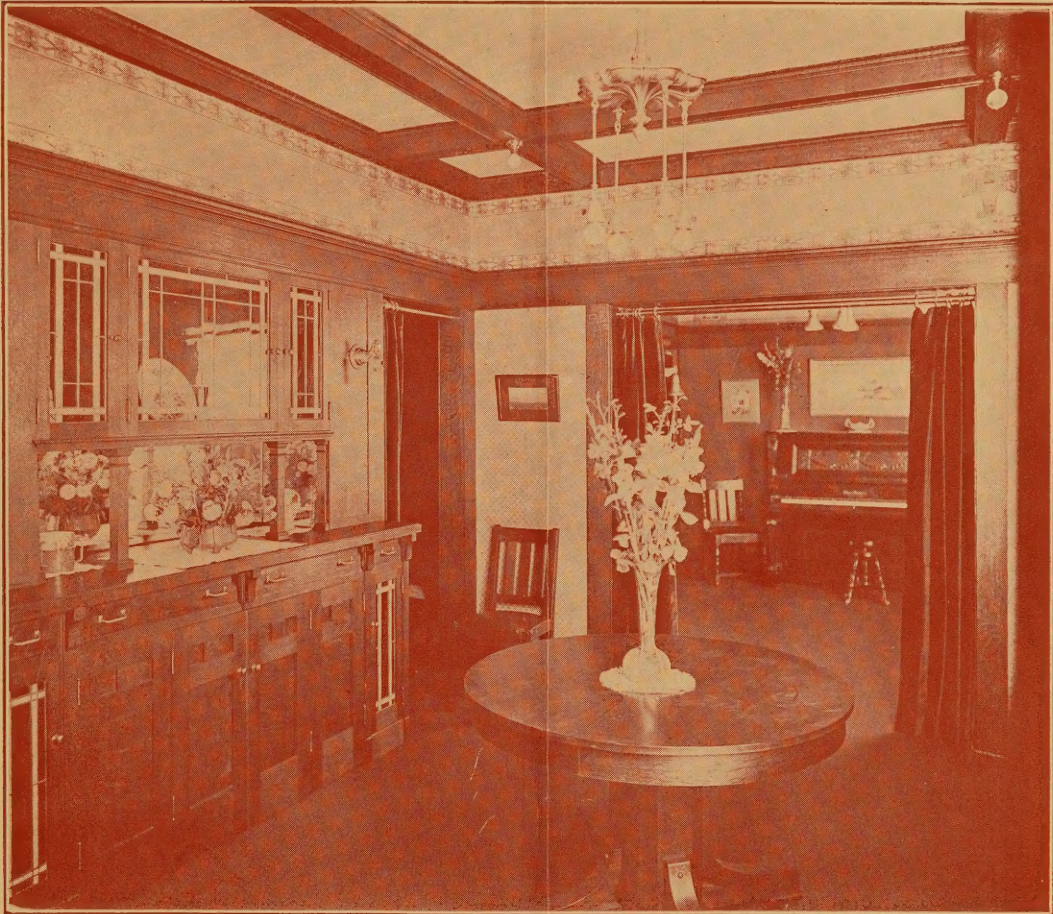

Planning

Having made a study of the great question of the saving of space in apartments, etc., we are able to make suggestion plans for any style of building to fit any lot, using every inch of space that will provide a greater revenue. These suggestion plans are made without cost to parties who contemplate using beds.

A THREE ROOM APARTMENT

THREE ROOMS EQUAL TO FIVE

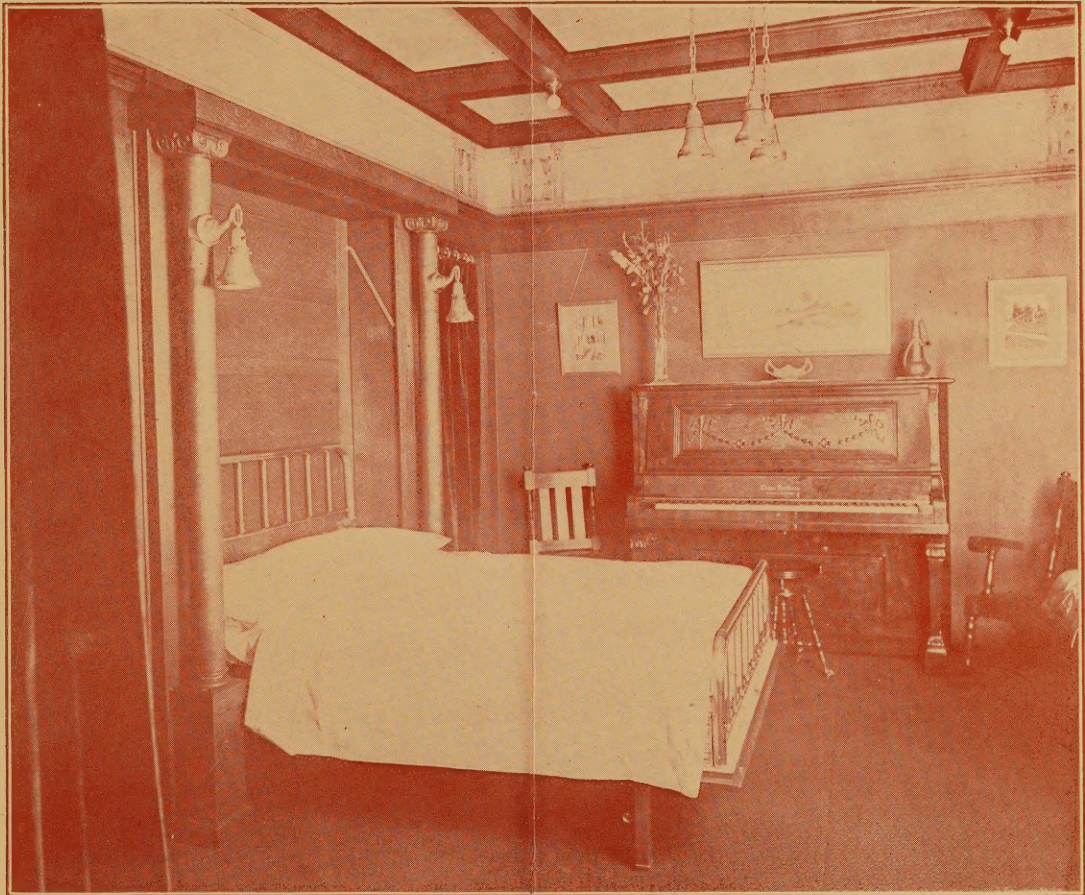

Living Room, Dining Room, Two Bedrooms, Kitchen, Bath, Halls and Closets; every thing that a five room flat could contain. Half the care and labor, all the conveniences.

LIVING ROOM

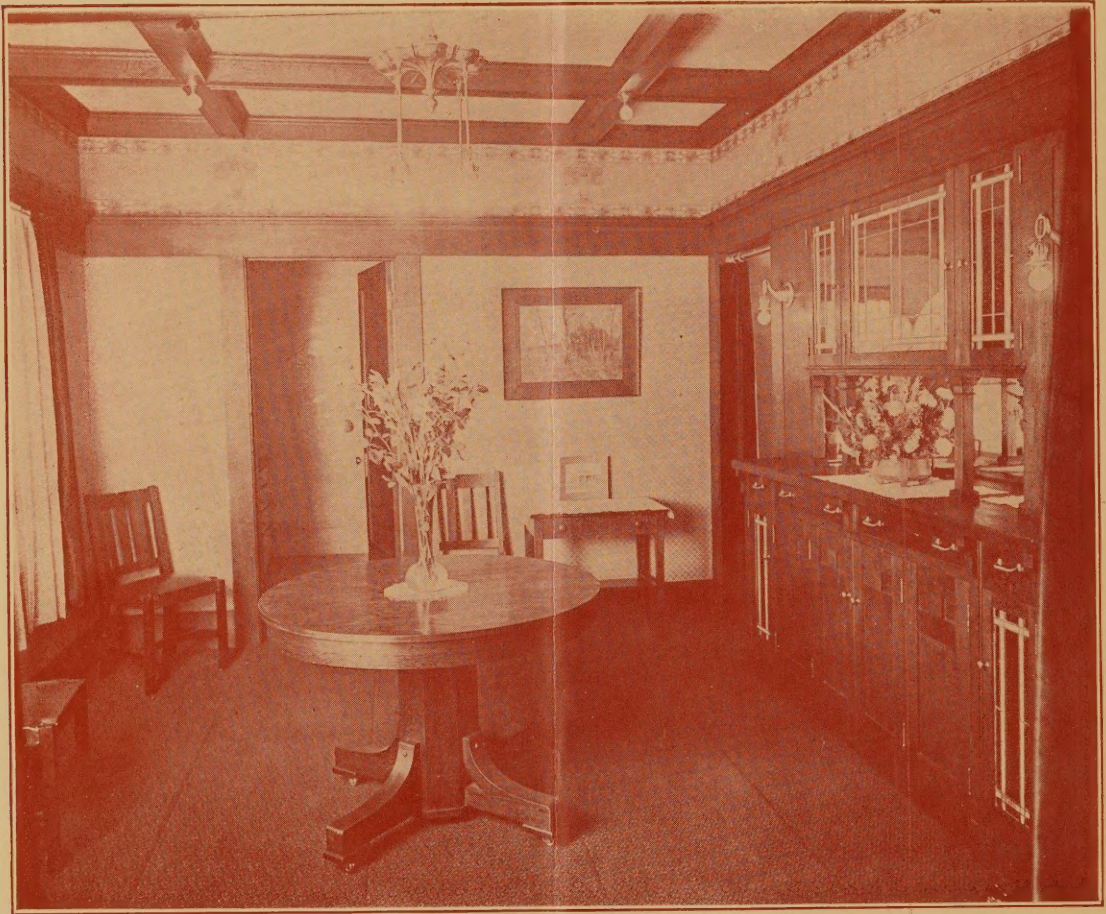

The Living Room: Comfortably furnished. The Console mirror being the front of the Wall Bed, but concealing the fact entirely.

LIVING ROOM

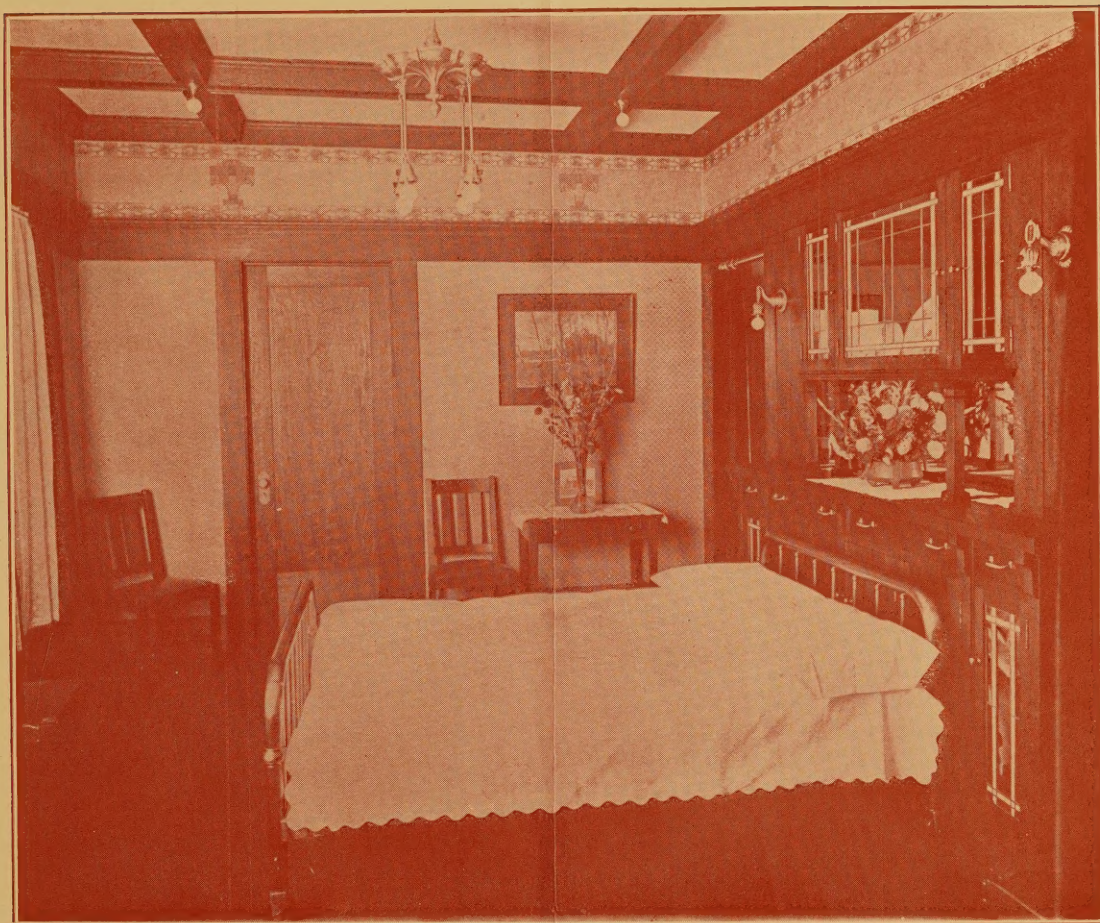

The Living Room: By the lowering of the Console mirror a complete bed is provided. The bed is absolutely safe and is thoroughly ventilated.

DINING ROOM

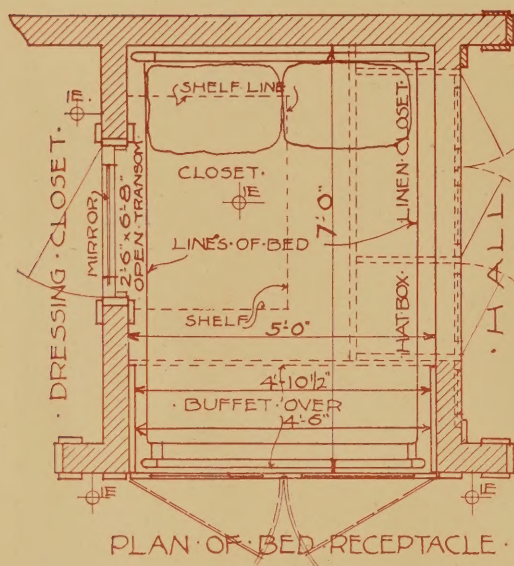

The Dining Room: Furnished completely. The bed being concealed in the sideboard.

DINING ROOM

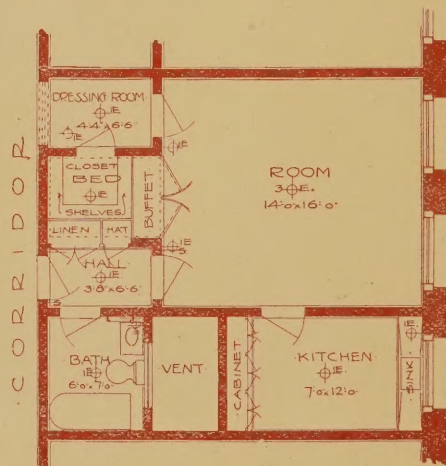

The Dining Room: By moving the table and opening the front of the sideboard, a standard size, full brass bed rolling on large castors, can be brought out into the room. The doors to sideboard may then be closed, making a complete bedroom when desired.

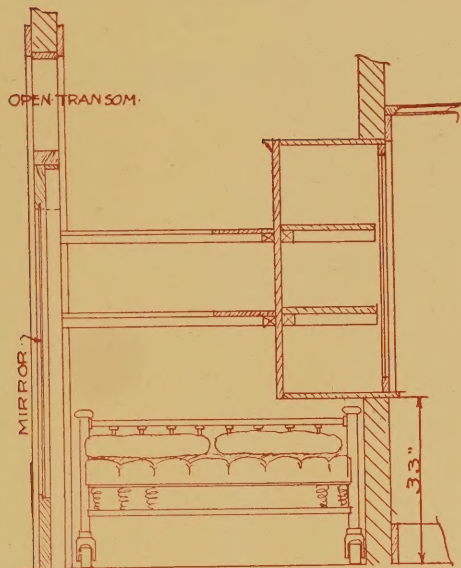

THIS plan shows how we use every inch of the space occupied by the rolling bed when in receptacle. The linen and hat closet extending over the bed in the hall side. The Buffet in the dining room side. The dressing room at side of bed having a door opening into bed receptacle which is open from floor to ceiling, and is directly ventilated and can be cleaned thoroughly without any obstruction or impossible places. The space over the linen closet and buffet can be used as storage space and the space over bed as the house closet in which clothing can be hung on rods, etc.

THIS plan shows one of many that can be used when small apartments are desired, and shows the combination of the Dining Room, Living Room and Bed Room all in one, with Kitchen, Bath and Hall. The rolling bed System providing the closets, etc., and Dressing Room.

BED spaces can be ventilated by means of windows to the outside, to vent shafts, etc., or by means of a vent pipe in partitions with intake and outlet at top and bottom.

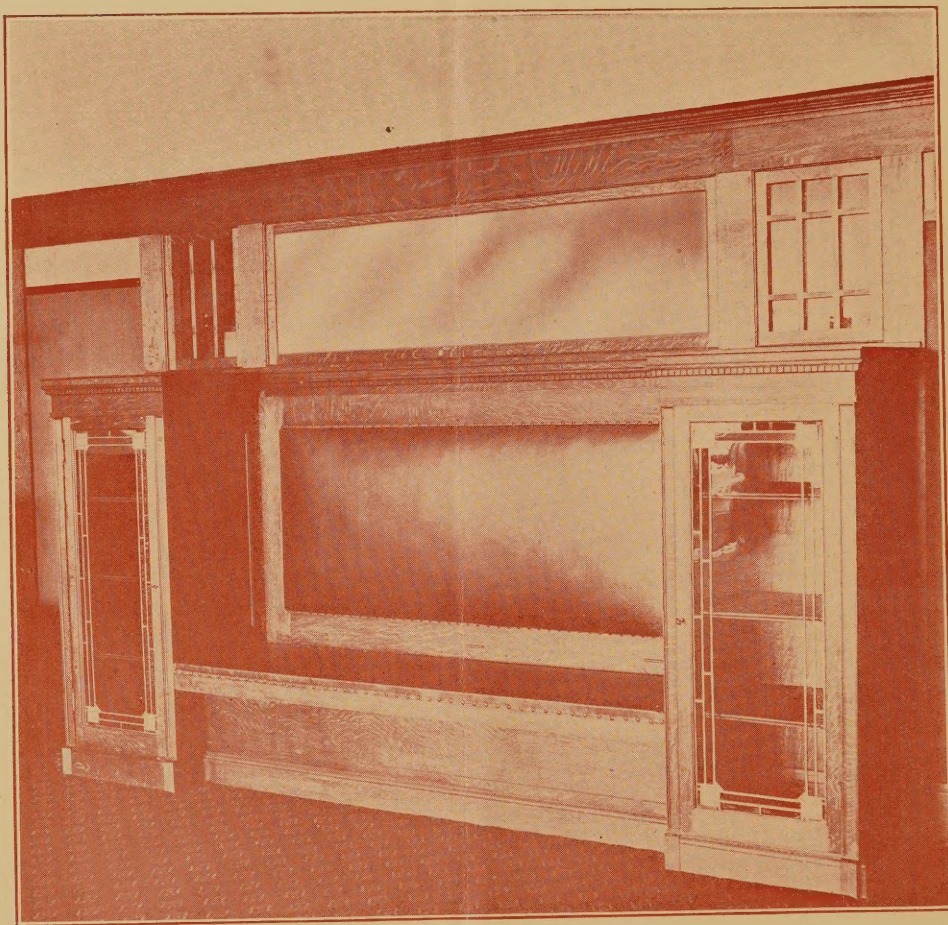

THIS plan is one of many that may be designed and shows that by using both the wall and rolling bed every inch of space is used; and by the living and dining room serving two purposes, it is possible to have what is equal to a five-room apartment with half of the labor and cost necessary in a standard apartment.

THE front of the Rolling Bed receptacle may be treated in a great many different ways. Book cases, writing desks, seats, buffets, etc., may be used. The possibilities in design are unlimited.

When we stop to consider, which we must, that one-third of our lives is spent in sleeping; and that means resting, then we should take great care in the selection of our beds and their equipment. The springs must be of the best quality and the ventilation perfect, so as to have the sleep that rests and is health-giving.
